

Chest X-ray quiz

Answer and discussion

The problem is considerable gastric distension. An intragastric tube will need to be inserted to relieve the gaseous distension. The central vein catheter is in a satisfactory position. There are also sternal wires present, easily seen on both the PA and lateral view, also 2 chest drains noted.

For question see page 82 of this issue.

