

Dedication

To my wife, Anne, and my children, Jessica and Mariah, for their unconditional and unwavering love, support, patience, and understanding during the time I devoted to this worthwhile endeavor. Their unselfishness in not always having an attentive husband and father was truly remarkable and greatly appreciated. It is the strength, devotion, and sacrifices of my family which have allowed me to grow and develop in the discipline of treating orofacial pain.

I thank all my professors, mentors, colleagues, and friends for the guidance, wisdom, and enlightenment they have shared with me over the years.

Gary D. Klasser, DMD
Guest Editor